From: Priscilla Neves, Director
Food Protection Program

Date: 1/21/09

Re: Multi-state Salmonella typhimurium Outbreak Updates

- 42 Cases associated with the multi-state Salmonella typhimurium reported to date in MA.
- MA Department of Public Health is participating daily in FDA and CDC conference calls relative to this investigation. Information will be shared with local boards of health and stakeholders as it is received.
- FDA's recall web site now contains searchable engine for recalled human and pet food products associated with this outbreak.
- FDA is still in process of visiting 70 Peanut Corporation of America (PCA) consignees who used recalled peanut butter. No further information on distribution is available at this time. BOH should focus on recalled products in high risk food stores and institutional food service operations that may not have received recall information.
- MA FPP and local boards of health have conducted 19/20 recall effectiveness checks of retail food facilities who received peanut butter from City Line Distributor in CT that was recently found to have the matching strain of Salmonella in a closed commercially packaged 5lb tub of peanut butter.
- FPP has shared recall information with MA Food manufacturers and distributors (27 who use peanut butter have self-reported no use of recalled peanut products to date)
- FPP and FDA have conducted recall effectiveness checks (REC) at 5 of the major food manufacturers and distributors /FPP in MA. FPP will continue to coordinate REC with FDA and local boards of health.
- FPP sent a HHAN alert to BOH on 1/20/09 requesting assistance with REC at retail facilities using standardized protocols and forms. If recalled product is found on sale, request voluntary removal from sale or embargo product. REC forms should be faxed to FPP as soon as possible at 617-983-6770.

- Large grocery chains including food banks (Roche Bros., Stop & Shop, Big Y, DeMoulas, Shaws and Greater Boston Food Bank) have been contacted to assess awareness and effectiveness of recall and response. All are aware of the recalls, removing products from sale and coordinating destruction or return of products to manufacturers.
- A distribution list of recalled products distributed or found in MA is attached. Latest recalls affecting MA not yet added in full to FDA's Table as of 1/21/09
